

Caring For Seniors

4D Luisa Leung

Taking a look at the streets, we can notice a lot of people walking in a hurry. It seems like everyone has something to rush... But wait a minute, imagine yourself alone in the street, no sound of cars or people, just the cold breeze blowing slightly. Would you feel like being in a desert? Or would you feel like being the king of your heaven?

I admit that I detest the congested places and the abominable people that push you here and there! But I hate more to be alone, it's so terrible that nobody deserves it. However, the cruel reality shows us the opposite. A considerable amount of aged people live alone. They cook, eat, clean, wash, and do all by themselves. They are forsaken and neglected by their sons, daughters, and relatives.

Senior people should be respected and esteemed. They made big contributions to our community. Now that they have given all to our society, and get nothing but strength in return to sighs. We ought to give them a hand. We have the responsibility to maintain the bright smiles on their faces.

So it is our duty to take care of our grandfathers and grandmothers. You wouldn't like to be abandoned by your grandsons and granddaughters when you are old, would you? But look out, looking after them doesn't mean just giving them a place to live, and money to spend. The most important thing to give them is: love.

Love can build mountains and destroy limitations. For a wonderful world, for a happier life and for a mended "aged-heart" bestow love to each other!

Teacher's Feedback : Your love to the aged can be seen between the lines. With the advanced development of our society, the elderly people have become a group of forgotten people. To show our care to the aged, let's reach out and lend them our helping hand. (Miss Ruth Wong)

Food For Thought : What are the reasons causing this social problem? What else can we do to help if all people are so busy with their own lives?
